

Community Navigator.

Do you know someone who may need financial support? Connect them to a Community Navigator.

Many people find it difficult to ask for financial help. That's why Uniting WA's Community Navigator is working closely with local service providers, like you, to help identify early signs of financial distress. Through this collaboration, families can be guided to the right support at the right time. The Community Navigator can also connect you to other services like disability and homelessness support.

Not sure what to look out for?

People may benefit from talking to a Community Navigator if you notice any of the following:

Mentioning difficulty paying rent, bills or for groceries

Relying on payday loans, buy-now-pay-later services, or borrowing from friends/family

Asking for payment extensions or falling behind on regular payments

Skipping meals or mentioning food insecurity

Avoiding services or appointments due to cost concerns

Difficulty affording school supplies, uniforms, or transport for children

Sudden changes in employment or reduced work hours

Receiving disconnection notices for utilities (electricity, gas, water)
